

STMicroelectronics

is looking for candidates for position:

Application Engineer for Car Infotainment Applications

Activity profile

- Application support for car infotainment platforms, such as infotainment processors, GNSS and tuners
- Technical support for European (EMEA) customers on daily basis (by email, phone or customer visits)
- Embedded FW development and integration activities on ARM based platforms
- Support for the customers in integrating, customizing and optimizing embedded firmware on their platforms
- Trainings for customers

Qualification

- Master degree in Electrical Engineering, Computer Science or similar
- Experience in development of embedded firmware (fresh graduates can also apply)
- Experience with RTOS and DSP programming is an advantage
- Very good programming skills in C (C++)
- Knowledge of ARM based platforms
- Experience with Matlab and Matlab Simulink is an advantage
- Willingness to learn new things and flexibility to travel in Europe

Other skills

- Strong communication skills in English
- Good analytical and problem solving skills
- Some HW skills, ability to read schematics, working with measurement equipment

We offer

- Attractive salary and wide range of corporate benefits
- Great opportunity to learn new things and to work on attractive platforms
- Good team spirit and friendly working environment
- Office located in Prague city center

For more information and in case of interest please contact Jana Fischerová at jana.fischerova@st.com or +420 222 336 288.